Byron Spruell
President, League Operations
National Basketball Association

Byron Spruell started in his role as President, League Operations in August 2016.

Spruell oversees critical league operations, including the Basketball Operations, Referee Operations and Basketball Strategy & Analytics departments, as well as the processes regarding the management of rule changes, the evaluation and training of game officials, and the enforcement of conduct standards and discipline. He also collaborates with USA Basketball and the International Basketball Federation (FIBA) to promote the global growth of the game.

Before joining the NBA, Spruell spent 20 years at Deloitte LLP, most recently as its Vice Chairman, Central Region Market Leader. He spearheaded the firm’s client and business growth and strategic positioning across 22 states consisting of 31 offices and more than 14,000 Deloitte professionals in the region. He also served as Chicago Managing Principal, supervising talent and community involvement initiatives in the local office.

Spruell has served on several charitable boards and committees, including World Business Chicago and the Civic Committee of the Commercial Club of Chicago, and is active in various nonprofit organizations, including the United Way, Big Shoulders Fund and Chicago Urban League. He is currently on the boards of the Museum of Science and Industry, Northwestern Memorial HealthCare and Metropolitan Family Services in Chicago and the Jackie Robinson Foundation in New York.

Spruell, who grew up in Cleveland, earned a bachelor’s degree in mechanical engineering and an MBA in finance from the University of Notre Dame. He was an offensive lineman and co-captain of the Fighting Irish’s football team and currently serves on the University’s Board of Trustees. Spruell met his wife, Sedra, at Notre Dame. They have a son, Devyn, and a daughter, Aleah.
Joe Borgia has worked in Basketball and Referee Operations at the NBA since 1999.

For the last five seasons, he was the main point of contact for the NBA Replay Center. This season, he is refocusing his efforts on the newly created Coach’s Challenge.

As he did with the Replay Center, Borgia developed the rules and handles the execution for the Coach’s Challenge, which was approved by the NBA Board of Governors on July 9, 2019, for use during the 2019-20 season.

Borgia was the league’s Director of Referee Development and Director of Officiating Programs and Development before being named Vice President in 2008. His Referee Operations duties have included creating training videos and interpreting the rules of the game for officials, teams, broadcasters and media.

Borgia began his professional officiating career in 1978 at age 22, when he joined the staff of the New York Pro-Am league. He spent eight years in the Continental Basketball Association before being hired to the NBA staff in 1988. He officiated 10 seasons before an injury forced him to retire in 1998.

Borgia worked two of the most famous games in NBA history: the highest-scoring game (Detroit Pistons at Denver Nuggets, 186-184 on Dec. 13, 1983) and the longest modern-day game (Seattle SuperSonics at Milwaukee Bucks, which lasted five overtimes, on Nov. 9, 1989).

Borgia is the son of the late Sid Borgia, a legendary referee who officiated in the NBA for 20 years beginning in 1946. Sid Borgia also served as supervisor of officials during the latter years of his career.

Borgia resides in New Jersey and St. Pete Beach, Fla. He and his wife, Linda, have a daughter, Marisa, and a son, Matthew.
Monty McCutchen oversees the day-to-day management and on-court performance of all officials in the NBA officiating program, which services the NBA, WNBA and NBA G League.

McCutchen assumed his current position in December 2017 after spending 25 seasons as an NBA official. One of the league’s highest-rated and most respected referees, McCutchen officiated more than 1,400 regular-season games and 169 playoff games. He refereed 16 games in the NBA Finals, most recently working Game 3 of the 2017 championship series between the Cleveland Cavaliers and Golden State Warriors.

Before joining the NBA, McCutchen served as a referee in the Continental Basketball Association for four seasons. He officiated playoff games all four years, including the CBA Finals in his last three seasons.

A native of San Angelo, Texas, McCutchen earned a bachelor’s degree in English Literature and Speech Communication from the University of Texas at Arlington. McCutchen and his wife have a son and a daughter.
Jason Phillips is in his first season as NBA Replay Center Operations Principal after a 19-year career as an NBA referee.

In his new role, Phillips is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the NBA Replay Center. His Referee Operations duties include creating training videos and interpreting the rules of the game for officials, teams, broadcasters and media.

Phillips officiated 1,133 regular-season games as an NBA official. He also worked 104 playoff games, including nine Finals games. He finished his on-court career officiating Games 1 and 5 of the 2019 NBA Finals between the Golden State Warriors and the Toronto Raptors.

He considers his most memorable NBA assignment to be his first game as a full-time NBA official: Orlando Magic vs. Philadelphia 76ers on Nov. 3, 2000.

Phillips officiated three seasons in the WNBA, six seasons in the Continental Basketball Association and five years at the high school level in his home state of Texas.

He earned a bachelor’s degree in Business Administration at Tarleton State University. Phillips played varsity basketball, golf and baseball at Cisco High School in Texas.

Phillips and his wife have three sons. He enjoys DIY projects around the house and playing golf.
Mike Callahan is in his first season as NBA G League Training and Development Lead after a 29-year career as an NBA referee.

In his new role, Callahan is responsible for the implementation, development and execution of the NBA G League referee educational curriculum. He also oversees NBA G League referee staff evaluation and development, including the transition of top candidates to the WNBA and NBA.

Callahan officiated 1,626 regular-season games as an NBA official. He also worked 225 playoff games, including 21 Finals games. He finished his on-court career officiating Game 4 of the 2019 NBA Finals between the Golden State Warriors and the Toronto Raptors. Before joining the NBA, Callahan spent three years officiating in the Continental Basketball Association.

Known as “Duke,” the Philadelphia-born Callahan’s most memorable NBA assignment came in 1990, when he officiated a game at the Spectrum in Philadelphia for the first time.

Callahan helps run the Next Level Referee Training camp, which is held at Villanova University. All proceeds from the camp go to local charities.

A member of the Cardinal O’Hara High School basketball team for four years, Callahan coached the freshman basketball team after graduating.

Callahan enjoys playing golf during his free time.
George Toliver has been a member of the NBA’s Referee Operations department since 2004. In his current role, Toliver oversees the implementation of programs designed to identify new officials for the NBA’s developmental pipeline.

Toliver officiated 742 regular-season games in 15 seasons as an NBA official. In addition, Toliver was a FIBA official from 1985-2000, with assignments that included the 1995 European Championships and the 1994 FIBA Basketball World Cup.

His officiating experience also includes a stint in the Chinese Basketball Association, one year with the United States Basketball League, six years of college basketball and 11 years of high school basketball. He has also conducted clinics in Germany, Greece, Spain, Taiwan, Turkey and Poland.

Toliver earned a bachelor’s degree in Social Science and a master’s degree in Education from James Madison University. He played four seasons of basketball for JMU and was the team MVP in 1971 and 1972. Toliver was an instructor at JMU, in addition to being the assistant baseball coach from 1973-74 and assistant basketball coach from 1973-75. He was inducted into the James Madison University Hall of Fame in 1991.

Toliver played four years of high school basketball at King George High School in Virginia, earning All-State honors and playing the state championship game in 1969. He was inducted into the King George Sports Hall of Fame in 2012.

Toliver founded and served as general manager of the Harrisonburg (Va.) HEAT Girls Basketball Club, which helped develop skills for girls ages 6-17.

His daughter, Washington Mystics guard Kristi Toliver, is a three-time WNBA All-Star and two-time WNBA champion.
Mark Wunderlich is in his sixth season as a member of the NBA’s Referee Development and Performance group.

He was an NBA official from 1999-2010, working 1,100 regular-season games and 80 playoff games, including two Finals games. He also officiated two NBA All-Star Games.

Before joining the NBA, Wunderlich was an official in the Continental Basketball Association from 1997-1999.

Wunderlich was inducted into the Delaware County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame in 2015.
Bernie Fryer is in his 46th year in the NBA and his fifth as a member of the Referee Development and Performance group.

Fryer began his professional officiating career in the Los Angeles Summer League in 1976 and was hired by the NBA in 1977, becoming one of the first former players to serve as an NBA official. He officiated 1,649 regular-season games and 145 playoff games, including 11 Finals games. He also worked the 1998 All-Star Game as well as games in Japan, Russia and Germany.

In addition to his officiating experience, Fryer has served as NBA Vice President and Director of Officials; NBA Assistant Director of Officials and Crew Chief Coordinator; and Referee Development and Performance Adviser.

Fryer was selected by the Phoenix Suns in the seventh round of the 1972 NBA Draft. He never played for the Suns, however, making his NBA debut with the Portland Trail Blazers in 1973. He played 80 games for the Trail Blazers during the 1973–74 season and was named to the All-Rookie Second Team after averaging 7.0 points and 3.5 assists per game. The following season, he split time between the NBA’s New Orleans Jazz and the ABA’s Spirits of St. Louis before retiring in 1975.

Over his playing career, he averaged 6.3 points, 3.0 assists and 1.8 rebounds with the Trail Blazers and Jazz in the NBA and 7.8 points, 2.9 assists and 2.4 rebounds in nine games for the Spirits in the ABA.

Fryer is from Port Angeles, Wash., where he was a high school All-American in both football and basketball. He attended Peninsula Junior College and Brigham Young University before joining the NBA.

In 2019, Fryer was inducted into the Washington State Sports Hall of Fame. He is a licensed instrument pilot and a certified diver and boat captain.
Eddie F. Rush
Referee Development Performance Advisor
National Basketball Association

Eddie F. Rush is in his fifth season as a member of the Referee Development and Performance group.

In 28 seasons as an NBA referee, Rush officiated 1,567 regular-season games and 206 playoff games, including 13 Finals games. He also worked the 2000 and 2008 NBA All-Star Games.

As a FIBA official for 12 years, his assignments included two FIBA Basketball World Cups (2002 in Indiana and 2006 in Japan). He was selected to work the bronze-medal game during the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing. Rush also has four years of officiating experience in both the Continental Basketball Association and the collegiate ranks.

Rush holds a bachelor’s degree in Marketing from Georgia State University, where he played basketball for two seasons. After graduating, Rush worked for three years in the financial planning services industry as a licensed representative with the investment firm Waddell & Reed.

Rush is the owner of the Atlanta-based company Twilight Productions 2, which promotes concerts and comedy shows.
Bennett Salvatore
Referee Development Performance Advisor
National Basketball Association

Bennett Salvatore is in his sixth season as a member of the Referee Development and Performance group.

Salvatore officiated 1,805 regular-season games in 33 seasons as an NBA official. He also refereed 238 playoff games, including 25 Finals games. His assignments included the 1993 and 2002 NBA All-Star Games and the 1993 McDonald’s Championship in Germany.

Before joining the NBA, Salvatore officiated for two years in the Continental Basketball Association and 10 years at the high school level.

Salvatore played baseball while attending C.W. Post. He was an All-County high school baseball player and All-State football player at Stamford Catholic High School in Connecticut. He also played basketball for three years.

In 2014, Salvatore was honored by the Fairfield County American Cancer Society as Philanthropist of the Year. He is a founding member of the Mickey Lione Jr. Fund, which awards scholarships to high school athletes and supports youth sports in Stamford.

Salvatore is also a motivational speaker for many organizations.
Joe Crawford
Referee Development Performance Advisor
National Basketball Association

Joey Crawford is in his fifth season as a member of the Referee Development and Performance group.

Crawford was an NBA official for 39 years, officiating 2,556 regular-season games and 374 playoff games, including 50 Finals games. He worked the 1986, 1992 and 2000 NBA All-Star Games as well as the 1993 McDonald's Championship in Germany.

Before joining the NBA, Crawford officiated in the Eastern Basketball Association (which became the CBA) and at the high school level in Pennsylvania.

Crawford graduated from Cardinal O’Hara High School in Springfield, Pa., and is a member of the school’s Hall of Fame. In 2008, Crawford earned a degree in Liberal Studies from Neumann College.

His late father, Shag, and his brother, Jerry, were both longtime Major League Baseball umpires.
Pete Williams
Replay Operations Lead
National Basketball Association

Pete Williams is in his sixth season as a member of the Referee Operations department.

In his role as NBA Replay Operations Lead, Williams collaborates with on-court and Replay Center referees during replay situations to ensure that reviews are fast and efficient. Williams also creates training curricula, establishes protocol and assigns nightly game responsibilities for all Replay Center personnel.

Before joining the NBA in 2014, Williams was the General Manager and an advanced scout for Hoop1 Video, a renowned national basketball content provider. He spent six years (2004-10) working as a video coordinator for the then-New Jersey Nets. Williams also worked as a scout for the then-Charlotte Bobcats (2010-14).

Williams is a graduate of Fairfield University, where he played on the 1997 MAAC Championship basketball team. He lives in Jersey City, N.J., with his wife, Jessica, son, Preston, and two daughters, Rory and Lilliana.
Gary Zielinski is in his first season as Director, Amateur Officiating Development after an 18-year career as an NBA referee.

In his new role, Zielinski provides guidance and training regarding playing rules and officiating career opportunities to amateur players, coaches and officials, with a specific focus on youth. He creates and implements youth officiating development curriculum based on the NBA’s officiating program and Jr. NBA’s educational initiatives. In addition, Zielinski conducts clinics and camps and identify candidates for introduction into the referee scouting pipeline.

Zielinski officiated 1,023 regular-season games and 18 playoff games as an NBA official. He also worked the 2018 NBA All-Star Game in Los Angeles.

Zielinski officiated for seven seasons in the CBA and four seasons in the WNBA. He refereed the Finals in both leagues.

Brandon Adair (UH-dare) is in his second season as an NBA official. He refereed 44 games in 2018-19 in his first season on staff.

Adair has four years of officiating experience in both the NBA G League and the collegiate ranks, with stints in the Big South, Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association and Old Dominion Athletic conferences. He was also a high school referee in his home state of Virginia for seven years.

A standout basketball player at Princess Anne High School in Virginia Beach, Va., Adair went on to play in college at Virginia Wesleyan and professionally for two seasons in Germany.

Adair works with the Big Brother program at Bayside Elementary School in Virginia Beach, Va.
Bennie Adams has officiated 1,303 regular-season games and 20 playoff games in 24 seasons as an NBA official. Adams officiated the 2015 NBA Mexico City Game, the 2011 NBA All-Star Game in Los Angeles and the 2008 NBA Europe Live Tour. He was also a USA Basketball official from 1995-2005.

He considers his most memorable NBA assignment to be a regular-season game between the Houston Rockets and the Los Angeles Lakers on April 10, 2018. In that game, 32-year-old Lakers rookie Andre Ingram scored 19 points in his NBA debut after spending a decade in the NBA G League.

CHANGES TO INSTANT REPLAY RULES FOR 2019-20 SEASON

The NBA Board of Governors unanimously approved two changes to the instant replay rules for the 2019-20 season.

The first change is the introduction of a Coach’s Challenge to trigger instant replay review of a limited set of matters. A version of the Coach’s Challenge that was used in the NBA G League for the last two seasons and at MGM Resorts NBA Summer League 2019 has been adopted in the NBA on a one-year trial basis during the 2019-20 season.

The second change enables the NBA Replay Center (in addition to the on-court referees) to trigger instant replay in certain circumstances. This process was successfully tested at NBA Summer League in each of the last two years.

Coach’s Challenge

Key features of the Coach’s Challenge are below:

• Each team is entitled to one challenge in the game (regardless of whether the challenge is successful).
• A team can use its challenge in the following instances: 1.) a called personal foul charged to its own team; 2.) a called out-of-bounds violation; or 3.) a called goaltending or basket interference violation.
• A team can use its challenge on a called personal foul at any point in the game.
• In the last two minutes of the fourth period or the last two minutes of overtime, a called out-of-bounds violation or called goaltending/basket interference violation will not be challengeable and instead will be exclusively triggered by on-court referees.
• To initiate a challenge, a team must immediately call a legal timeout and the head coach must immediately signal for a challenge by twirling his/her finger toward the referees.
• If a team attempts to challenge an event with no remaining timeouts, the team is charged an excessive timeout, for which the penalty is a technical foul, and no challenge will take place.
• If a team calls a timeout to challenge an event that may not be reviewed, the team will be charged a timeout but retain its challenge.
• As with other replay reviews, in order to overturn the event as called on the floor, there must be clear and conclusive visual evidence that the call was incorrect.

NBA Replay Center Triggers

In the first 46 minutes of the game and the first three minutes of overtime, the NBA Replay Center will be able to trigger instant replay of the following events:

• 2-Point or 3-Point Field Goals – i.e., whether a made field goal should count as two or three points or, in the event of a shooting foul, whether the offensive player should be awarded two or three free throws for being fouled on a shot attempt.
• Potential Shot Clock Violations – i.e., whether a successful field goal was attempted before or after the shot clock expired.

A new “courtside administrator,” hired and supervised by the League Office, will be stationed at the scorer’s table to facilitate and expedite communication between the NBA Replay Center and the on-court referees. The courtside administrator will not have any decision-making authority with respect to officiating calls or replay determinations.
The NBA Board of Governors has approved new language in the NBA rule book that governs traveling violations. The revision will not change the substance of the rule but will help eliminate the gap between the rule as written and how it has been applied in NBA games.

The official NBA rule book will now have a section that formally defines the “gather,” which is a concept that has been used by the officiating staff for many years to apply the rule but was never defined in the rule book. The text of the rule will also be revised to provide additional clarity regarding how many steps a player may take after the gather occurs.

The changes to the rule book are below.

Definition of the Gather

The following definition of the gather will be added to the definitions section of the playing rules:

a. For a player who receives a pass or gains possession of a loose ball, the gather is defined as the point where the player gains enough control of the ball to hold it, change hands, pass, shoot, or cradle it against his body.

b. For a player who is in control of the ball while dribbling, the gather is defined as the point where a player does any one of the following:

   (1) Puts two hands on the ball, or otherwise permits the ball to come to rest, while he is in control of it;
   (2) Puts a hand under the ball and brings it to a pause; or
   (3) Otherwise gains enough control of the ball to hold it, change hands, pass, shoot, or cradle it against his body.

Incorporating the Gather into the Traveling Rule

The gather will be expressly incorporated into the traveling rule to clarify how many steps a player may take after he receives the ball while progressing or completes his dribble:

- A player who gathers the ball while progressing may (a) take two steps in coming to a stop, passing or shooting the ball or (b) if he has not yet dribbled, one step prior to releasing the ball to start his dribble.

- A player who gathers the ball while dribbling may take two steps in coming to a stop, passing or shooting the ball.

- The first step occurs when a foot, or both feet, touch the floor after the player gathers the ball.
